about this true-to-life BASEBALL GAME

PITCHING HITTING FIELDING RUNNING MANAGING

Easy to play, real thrilling, exciting baseball with STRAT-O-MATIC. 400 big league players perform according to their actual abilities and your managerial decisions.

You, the manager, not only decide lineups, insert pinch-hitters, pinch-runners, and relief pitchers, play your infield "in or deep," and make defensive changes at any time, but also call for the sacrifice, steal, hit-and-run, and squeezeplay. All strategy moves are possible with STRAT-O-MATIC.

You have real control over all 400 major league players — who actually hit, pitch, field, and run according to their baseball abilities.

Each player has truly individual qualities. He slumps and goes into hot streaks, performs heroics and commits errors. With STRAT-O-MATIC all qualities of a ballplayer are realistic.

If you like baseball, you'll love to play STRAT-O-MATIC

STRAT-O-MATIC BASEBALL is the best baseball game I ever have had. Kids swamp over the back porch to play this game! Boy, it is a lot of fun! Thank you for making such a wonderful game. —P. C., Attleboro, Mass.

Just like real baseball. It is fun to play.

—G V., Cincinnati, O.

As close to realism as one can get and therefore far more superior to other competing baseball games.

—F. T., Manila, F.I.

Although it's fantastically realistic, it's also very simple to play. -A. F., Los Angeles, Calif.

I'm one hundred percent satisfied with it. The game provides hours of fun for me and my friends. It's very realistic, and true to life.

The best baseball game. It is realistic and yet not too difficult to play.

P. M., Port Huron, Mich.

Thank you for creating such an exciting yet realistic game and putting a shine to what might have been a boring summer.

N. S., Los Angeles, Calif.

Boys are waiting in line to play the game!

—A. H., Chicago, Ill.

It has given me more pleasure than any other

It has given me more pleasure than any other game.

S. E., Rossville, Ind.

The most exciting and fun game ever.

—L.S., Boston, Mass.

It is so stupendous, words can't explain.

—I. R., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Best on the market. —J. E., Miami, Fla.

Has given me more enjoyment than I have ever had from any one thing in my entire life. It's worth its weight in gold. As I love base-ball, this game gives me something enjoyable to do during the off seasons as well as during the season.

ADDRESS YOUR LETTERS TO: THE MARVEL COMICS NEW YORK, N. Y. 10022

Dear Stan, Roy, and Don,

I will attempt to gain a no-prize in this letter. A long time back a reader wrote in to dispute the telekinetic powers of Marvel Girl. He disproved it by stating that telekinesis is a wrong term since it is an unknown power, and that psychokinesis is the correct term since it is a power of mind over matter. Apparently he does not fully understand the nature of telekinesis. The power of levitation which Marvel Girl passesses is actually similar to the astral power of Doc Stronge. The levitation of any object physical or inanimate, is done by an astrol form within an individual. The person endowed with telekinesis is charged with prane, which is the psychic energy necessary to release this astral form. After mentally picturing this form, it is projected and the prana energizes it. Henceforth, the astrol form does the bidding of the individual

Masao Kano, P.O. Bax 642 Kapao, Hawaii 96746

Actuelly, Masae—whereas Dr. Strange does utilize as-tral projection. Jean's mutant power of telekinesis is quite a different thing in execution, even though the effects can be similar. With Jean it is less a case of a psychic phenomenon than a fantastic display of mental power. Of course, we might be wrang! Marvel Girl could be super-charged with prane, but if she is, she never teld us about it!

Dear Stan and Roy.

I must admit that, in Toud's words in X-MEN #44, "the sheer brilliance of holding the Angel in a highly electrified cage could only emanate from Magneto's brain." But I wander about the Angel's brain when it comes to remembering laws of electricity. Reaching for "some kind of fancy flashlight" he says, "If only I can reach it ... without being electrocuted on the bars of this cage." Everyone knows that when a live electric cable falls on a car, the passengers inside are safe if they remain inside. Once they step onto the ground or touch the ground while still touching the car, it causes a complete circuit and Zap—fried! When the Angel grabbed that "fancy floshlight" these same conditions would have been duplicated. In keeping with the laws of electricity, Angel should have been electrocuted the moment he touched the flashlight. My husband Ralph pointed this out to me. I hope you can't find a way out of this boo-boo, because I'm dying to get a no-prize.

Barbara Schumann, 918 South 115th Street Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53202

Sorry to disappoint you, Sarb, but we're ganno wiggle out of another and The analogy with the electrified our won't work 'cause it wasn't the whole cage that was charged, only the bars. Warren ron no risk of being electrocuted as long as he didn't touch them, and he succeeded! So-o-o, no no-prize for you . . . or Ralphi But keep trying, y'hear?

We realize that it's too late to stop you, but we wanted to register our disappointment anyway 1) The new and divergent costumes of the X-Men. 2) The death of Professor X. the unifying force in the team. 3) The statement that the costume change was affected for a definite reason 4) The large Angel cover logo on issue #44, and the issue almost entirely devoted to an Angel adventure. 5) The subsequent cover logo for Cyclops, and the issue devoted to him 6) Finally, "The X-Men Split Up". It has been apparent to us for some time now that you are contemplating using the various X-Men in situations other than those requiring teamwork, almost certainly in their own books. Although we realize that It is too late to halt this course of mad fally, the books being prepared months ahead of time, it behaves us to make beknownest unto you the apprehension and sheer horfor with which we gaze upon the demise of the X-Men as a team. Since it is too late to stop you, we do wish that you would at least follow up on the subteams you have used in previous usues, notably Iceman and the Beast, and perhaps Scott and Jean The Angel has always been sort of a loner, and may be improved in his own book. These would be the only two-man teams presently in Marveldom, and would perhaps be an interesting change of pace. Perhaps it was necessary to change their costumes, but would you please change them again to something at least partially aesthetic. Red and yellow are so harrible together (the Angel looks like a Swiss yodeler), and Jean's green monstrasity is just not chic. The amazing thing is that we still continue to read this mag. You must be doing something right.

Bruce Coville and Charles Smart. R.D. #2, Box 17 Phoenix, New York 13135

After your stinging sextet of verbal slaps the only thing left that we could possibly have done right is numbering the pagest However, we hope that once you get used to the heavy changes the X-Men have been undergoing lately, you'll like the direction they take. The plans we have for the ex-students of Professor X are so exciting that we know you won't be able to stop yourselves from hopping on their bombastic bandwagen!

Dear Stan et. al.,

In my book, the X-Men are absolutely the greatest (with Spiderman running a very close second). In the X-Men, you have managed to capture the majesty and the realism that make them a true work of literary art. You've somehow managed to make these characters solid, alive, 3-dimensional, and consequently very easy to identify with. I espacially want to congratulate you on the death of Prof. X. It is highly improbable that the X-Men could continuously defeat such powerful villains without ever being really hurt them-selves. And you handled it superbly. You managed to capture the full emotional impact of tragedy met with courage. And yet you avoided becoming sentimental and thus ruining the effect. Just keep up the good work and I'll stick with Marvel 'til the Icoman melteth!

Tem Droke, P.O. Sex 2745, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va. 23185

It's a deal, Mr. D.I We want to take this opportunity to thank you and all the Marvelltes who wrote in concessing the tragic death of Professor Xavier, marking it as a milestone in the careers and lives of the remaining X-Men. Scott, Jean, Warren, Bobby, and Hank have had to do some fast thinking, fast acting, and fast growing up since then—and we feel that the group can only be improved by such a maximum effort on the part of each individual. The misfortune shared by all of them has brought a new closeness, and has at the same time incroused the stature of each member of the team.

Dear Stan and Gary,

The origin of the X-Men series is excellent, but it takes too much space from the feature story. The feature stories have been extremely poor. The Factor Three story was dragged out too long to be effective. The Frankenstein and Grotesk stories were just watered-down versions of your monster stories from the early sixties. The current battle with Magneto has suffered from lack of enough space to really develop the story. Well, now that I've sufficiently torn you down, let me congratulate you on the first part of the leaman's origin. My face must have turned white with shock when I saw the angry citizens attacking Bobby like he was a mad dog. As I said above, the origins are great, but their place is in one of your 25g reprint mags. Many of your readers, myself included, have most of the stories you reprint, yet buy the mags anyway. Why not give these readers something to read in the reprint mags?

Tony Isabella, 11203 Peony Avenue Cleveland, Ohio 44111

By new you know that your wish has come true, Tony—and that Marvel Super-Heroes will be featuring an original story in each issuel This month it's the featless Phantom Eagle! And the origin stories can't go on forever . . . besides, what better place for them than in X-MEN, about whom they're written? Sorry you didn't dig the Frankenstein/Grotesk "monster" stories, but most of the Marvelites who wrote in thought they were so great that we didn't need the crying towel even once!

Dear Stan and Gary,

X-MEN #44 seemed to be a "filler" issue. That is, you did not want to continue your main plot (probably because of the X-Men appearance scheduled for AVENGERS #53 next month), so you filled X-MEN #44 with a bunch of garbage. The idea of a guy going against his adopted race to save a people he cannot even recall is beyond me. Maybe I'm just too pessimistic about human nature, but I just cannot see if. Question time. 1. How come Red Raven could fly? You gave no explanation of how he gained this power. 2. How come Raven did not say anything about Warren having wings? 3. How come you changed the title from just X-MEN to The X-MEN Featuring:? Since I asked all these questions I will get you out of one jam. On page 5, panel 7, Cyclops tells Angel to fly to Avengers' HQ. However, on page 7, panel 2, Warren acts like the idea of going to the Avengers to the interest time word at hathead day those four m Warren was so involved with escaping from Magneto, he did not comprehend all of what Scott told him. "The Iceman Cometh" was a good origin story. I only hope you don't stretch out Iceman's origin to the ridiculous length you did Cyclops'. One more thing, Quicksilver learned to fly in AVENGERS #43.

> Werner Leupold, 18802 Afton Ave. Saratoga, California 95070

Right you are, Wernerl And your explanation of Warren's temporary lapse of memory was so close to the actual reason that you have earned one of our eagle-eyed ornithologist-ogled no-prizes! Now, as for Red Raven's power of flight, his wings are obviously mechancial simulations created by means of the advanced scientific knowledge of the Birdmen. The Raven, with the danger of his adopted race awakening from the state of suspended animation foremost on his mind, and with relatively little knowledge of the people who dwell on the earth, simply did not consider that Warren's wings were anything to comment upon! Oh, and we changed the logo because we changed the format. The X-Men will still be the title, but the emphasis will be on them as individual mutant superheroes rather than as a team. 'Nuff said!

Dear Stan and Roy,

I'd like to congratulate you on the great job you did on the X-MEN #44. It was superb. I liked the artwork very much. I liked the part in which you told us about the Bird-men. I think that the "Red Raven" did the right thing when he gave the Birdmen the gas. I have one question. When the Birdmen sit down and lean back, what do they do with their wings? Wouldn't it hurt their wings when they leaned back on them? You are most likely thinking, "What kind of a kid is he?" I am just curious, that's all. When I was reading the letter section, I read about a person who does not like the new uniforms that the X-MEN have. I think the uniforms are neat. They all have a sign of clothing that shows they are a group. All of them have on a belt with an X on it. That is all they really need to show that they are a group. They might want to have uniforms different from each other. In. fact, Marvel Girl probably enjoyed making the uniforms to surprise the rest of them. I was mighty sorry to have Prof. X die. I thought he was a mighty good man (or should I say Mutant), and instructor. He was the heart of the group. He made a good choice when he picked Cyclops as junior leader. I was wondering, how strong is the Beast? I think a group could be Thing, Hulk, Beast, and Silver Surfer. I know it is a crazy idea, but, I just thought of it. I really think that the X-Men are one of the greatest groups you have yet, if not the best!

> Bob Cox, 3317 Cones Ct. Midland, Michigan 48640

Thanks, Bobbyl And thanks for your approval of the X-Men's costumes, too! The general opinion of the change is still almost half-and-half, but the scales are tilted in favor of Jean's designs—and it's a good thing, cause the artists were beginning to mumble mutinously about the way we like to change things! It's only a minor miracle that they haven't openly rebelled by furtively switching all the uniforms around in one leh just to see if we've got it straight! Your idea for a new team is great, but knowing the buys involved we kinda think it would never work out. The Hulk and the Silver Surfer are not joiners, and probably wouldn't cooperate for more than one ish. And Ben and Hank. . well, you can almost guess what would happen between those two the first time Bookwarm McCoy threw a two-dollar word at hothead Grimmi When! But who knows? Someday those four might be forced into teaming up despite their differences!
